

father as touching his godhed: and inferior to the father, touching his manhod. Who althonghe he be god and man: yet he is not twoo but one god. One, not by conuersion of the godhed in to fleshe: but by takpng of the manhod into

god. One altogether, not by confusion of sub<sup>s</sup> stances stances: but by vnitie of person. For as the reasonable soule & fleshe is one man: so god and man is one chzist. Who suffered for our saluacion:

descended in to hell, rose agayne p third day from p dead. He ascended in to heauē, he sitteth on the right hand of god almightie: fro thence he shall

A. us, come